

The goals of the village project will be to see the completion of:

- Traditional redwood plank houses and sweat house
- Brush Dance pit
- Visitor and camping areas and infrastructure (water system, sewer/septic, and bathroom and showers)
- Educational facilities and classrooms
- Outdoor amphitheater
- Fish camp and boat dock on the river bar
- Seeding with indigenous grasses, flowers, sorrel and other vegetation (3.5 acres)
- Redwood canoes on the river
- Ecologically sustainable Yurok village

Over time, village residents will facilitate and encourage:

- Traditional means of fishing and preserving
- Gathering of traditional plants and herbs

- Preserving and promoting the continuity of Native cultures
- Protecting salmon, water and native resources
- Replication for other Indians and their families, as well as an intertribal model for redevelopment of Indigenous cultures
- Protecting sacred sites
- Ecological sustainability
- Physical & mental health through the return to indigenous cultures

Blue Creek-Ah Pah Village will make a difference in the community by:

- Bringing people home to reconnect with their ancestors & community
- Reawakening traditional Yurok community, society and governance
- Facilitating ways Indigenous people can reconnect to the land
- Facilitating ways Indigenous people can exercise true tribal sovereignty
- Facilitating ways to recreate sustainable Indigenous cultures

- Promoting ecological awareness locally and globally
